OLD COLLEGE HALL

The oldest building on Wesleyan's campus was erected in 1864, when most of our grandparents were very young.

What tales it would tell could it but speak, this old college hall which has served young men and women for sixty-eight years. Within its walls there have been millions of problem solved in mathematics. It has heard many discussions of matters religious and secular. In the literary society halls on third floor young collegians have read, discussed, orated and debated on many, many occasions, and on as many subjects. On the second floor students have spent many a weary hour typing, the click of the keys accompanied by the nerve racking tunes ground out of victrola records.

Perhaps the most memorable feature of the Old College Hall is the bell on the roof of the porch. Countless are the times the brazen tongue of the old bell has persuaded students to go to classes; and how glad they have always been when it rang at the end of the school day. Perhaps it is old-fashioned, but we like it just the same. Say the Wesleyanites, "Long may it ring."

No one who has ever been to Wesleyan can forget the Old College Hall with its ivy covered wall, its worn steps, its initial carved desks, and its big iron bell.

DEAN M. F. STUBBS, Ph. D.

One could hardly say a finer thing of a man than this: "He is a true friend." For real friends are rare and friendship with one of these is a priceless thing.

Such a friend we have found in our teacher, adviser, and dean. One who is willing to help to straighten out troubles, listen to difficulties, having always the understanding heart.—A true comrade.

It is to him, with love and appreciation of his genuine interest and friendship, we dedicate this edition of the Nocatula.

THE SENIORS

TO THE FACULTY

When men make a success in life there is always a reason—several reasons. Everyone immediately thinks of the successful man, “courage, grit, determination, these things have made him what he is.” But there is always a force behind such a person,—a force that, however unconsciously, was the beginning of the inspiration toward a bigger life. Few people recognize it; often the man himself does not. But somewhere back there in his beginning someone has given him a tiny thought that led to a bigger idea, a bit of courage when it was most needed, a subtle suggestion that may have led to a powerful plan,—these things and others that wielded an influence in shaping the path of a life.

We little understand it now, but in after years when we are each filling our niche in some corner of life, this is precisely the sort of thing we will be thanking our faculty for. Tracing it back through the years we will find that here on this campus, we found the incentive toward success.

We cannot realize now the loss we will sustain in losing daily contact with these men and women. Neither can we tell them in our small way how much we appreciate them. But we take this opportunity of expressing a very real and deep gratitude for the unfailing sympathy, interest, and friendship that have made college a little happier place than it otherwise would have been.

CLASS WILL

We, the members of the Senior Class of Tennessee Wesleyan College, city of Athens, County of McMinn, State of Tennessee, being as sound in mind as may be expected of Seniors, and also well aware of the fact that finis will soon be written to denote the last of our Junior College days, do make and our first, last and only will and testament, the following provisions for the disposal of our talent, good will, and privileges, to the faculty and future Seniors of the aforesaid institution.

To members of the faculty we do bequeath our everlasting gratitude in return as partial payment for the great interest, patience and ever ready helping hand with which they have assisted us within our many trials.

To our dear old Alma Mater from which we reluctantly prepare to set forth we leave our greatest love and undying hope of a future record surpassing the already great one.

I, Coy Atwell, do bequeath my boisterous ways to "Slim" Kendall.

We, Elizabeth Garrett and Harold Gastman, do leave to our dear underclassmen, Helen Shaw and Wilber Hightower the teachers' parlor at Ritter.

I, Robert Abernathy, do will and bequeath my surplus avoirdupois to Manual Rodriguez.

To Lillian York, I, Mary Louise Melear, do grant my dainty, delicate, and diminutive figure.

We, Jessie Cooke, Elizabeth Cooper and Juanita Grant, will our athletic ability to Justine Holdway, Ruth Hawkins, and Mary Pendleton.

I, Cecile Cox, do will my ability to whistle and sound my s's to Catherine McCay.

To Bill Wilson, I, LeRoy Grover, do leave my ability to act as dean.

I, Blair Allen, do bequeath Drannon Elliott to anyone who will take him.

To Joe Johnson, I, Jimmie Hicks, do leave my bashful ways and speed of talking.

I, August Sharp do leave my indifference to Charlie Martin.

Unto Roy Lynch, I, Ralph Duggan do leave my ability to cut classes.

I, Fred Mitchell, do leave to the future bell boy my ability to make the students hop.

I, Eugene Roberts, do bequeath my ability as sheik to David Denton.

I, James Franks, do will to the male faction of the Junior Class, my ability to "have and to hold" the females of the class.

I, Albert Adkins do leave my taking ways to anyone who will take them.

I, Pauline Ridenour, do leave my ability of being late to first period classes to Helen Knight.

I, Mary Heiskell, do leave my indifference to men to Justine Holdway.

To Welton Gregory, I, Mac Ray, leave my dignity and stern persuasive manner. He'll need it!

We, Elizabeth Moses and Mildred Wilson, leave our inattentiveness to Nola Bell Calahan to Kartley Ashley.

To Nell Finnell, I, Jewell Johnson, leave my reputation as the best all-around "tom-boy" in T. W. C.

I, Jessie Arp, leave to Velma Arp, my ability to act.

I, Jimmy (Schnozzle) Boyer leave to Elmer (Snoop) Williamson my dignified and scholastic pastimes.

Dora Birchfield leaves to Velma Kennedy her knowledge of social problems.

Unto Juanita Crowder, I, Kay Carpenter, do will my vocal and literary talents provided she uses them.

CLASS WILL

Unto Rachel Ketron, I, Voncille Jackson, do will the custody of Welton Gregory.

I, Mearle Higgenbotham, do will and bequeath my poetic looks to Ogilvy.

Ara Knox leaves to Mabel Burns, her round trip ticket to Riceville.

I, Ethel Higgs, leave my power of giggling to Florence Hitch.

To Rev. Roy Lynch, I, Fred Puett, will my ability to walk straight under any circumstances.

Edith Shield leaves her dramatic ability to whom it may concern.

Ollie Hooper leaves to somebody the ability to answer all questions.

We, Howard McDaniels and Sylvan Overkey bequeath to Johnny Campbell and Eugene McCay, our athletic abilities.

I, Ruth Peacock, do leave my challenging ability to Gona Dorsey, hoping she will make good use of it.

I, Evelyn Edwards, do will and bequeath Eva Russell to anyone who will take care of her.

To Mary Ruth Weisner, I, Theodessia Robitzsch leave the right to the settee in Bennett Hall on Sunday.

To any one desiring it, I leave my ability to find the right man—Nora Rucker Tal-lent.

To all those who have chaperoned, I leave my kindest felicitations. E. Mae Scarbrough.

I, E. L. Willson, leave my athletic ability to the spirit of Tennessee Wesleyan.

To the football squad of 1932, I, Robert Thomas, leave my ability to stick in the face of all odds.

To Professor Douglass, I, H. E. Walker, leave my supply of stories, with the right to transfer them to Kansas.

We, Spurgeon Simpson and Fred Thomas, leave to A. Peters and Joe Sager, our talent to be seen and not heard—may they use it.

To all Juniors, we, Anne Norman and Cora Todd leave our ability to help.

To each and every one, may my memory last Anon Ymous.

We, Mary Keiskell, Pauline Ridenour and Mary Louise Melear do will and bequeath our well-worn path around Petty and Robeson, to Catherine Neil, Helen Knight and Charlotte Land.

Tapestry

Threads woven into a pattern
Our days here have been.
Each new thought a song in the brain,
Each new friend a tint to the soul.
Dreams, ideas, plans—all threads in a design.

Each thread one by itself,
But changing, by its closeness, the shade
Of the one next to it.
Changing ever the form of the whole,
The color of the parts.

But the whole as yet
An unfinished pattern here.
Rather stretching away into a new form
Called life itself.
God—give us grace
Each to be a thread fashioning a great design
Into strength—into beauty.

—Kay Carpenter.

JUNIOR CLASS

Class Motto: "Working, laughing, serving, we're passing forward"

Class Colors: Silver and Rose.

Class Flower: Sweet Pea.

Class Poem:

We do not grope 'neath leaden skies,
Our trailing banner furled;
We see the rosy flush of dawn,
We greet a new born world.

We hold our banner proudly up—
'Tis rosy as our sky;
And from its folds, in silver, gleams
Our motto from on high.

Beneath it we shall gladly serve
A captain tried and true;
Beneath it we shall fight to win,
And reach our goal posts, too.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

Here we are, the Jolly Juniors, and we're half way to the top of the hill. Looking upward we see upon the summit our friends of the past year, the Seniors. They have been successful in scaling the heights and now they have reached the top. We have cherished their friendship and we wish for them the finest and best that life has to offer.

Then looking back down the hill, we see all the events of the past year. First days at college—shall we ever forget them?—days when we were agonizingly verdant, days when we frequently got lost and had to ask some of those dignified personages, the members of the Senior Class, where this classroom or that classroom was. Then after a few minor mishaps, we were well on our way, and climbing was easy until we reached the first rugged point—exams. It was steep climbing but most of us got over the rough places unhurt.

Not all of our climb has been hard, however. There have been pleasant stops along the way—parties, our chapel programs of songs, stunts, and dances, the Junior-Senior banquet, the Pan-Hellenic banquet and—oh, there was plenty of fun.

So here we are, half way to the top. Next year we will finish our climb. And we hope that when we, the Juniors of 1932, stand where the Seniors of this year now stand, we may have attained not only the high standards they have set, but that we may have lifted these standards to a higher plane.

THE WESLEYAN BROTHERHOOD

The Wesleyan Brotherhood is the oldest student organization on the campus. It is composed of the young men who are looking forward to the Christian ministry as their life's vocation. The work and influence of this organization on individual lives and the general campus atmosphere have been greater and more extensive than that of any other body throughout the years of its existence. This is yet true; and we, the present members of the Brotherhood, are endeavoring to be faithful torch bearers and in our span of life at Wesleyan, to maintain, improve, and perpetuate the work and influence of this organization.

After having worked and studied together this year we have greater hope and inspiration for our tasks of next year, with a determination to reach higher levels of accomplishment and to continue to propagate the ideals of our Master who instituted our motto—"Service and Brotherhood."

SERVICE CLUB

Clubs and clubs are organized on the campus for various reasons and to serve many needs. The Service Club was organized to serve as a spiritual fellowship group for those girls who have decided to enter some type of definite Christian service. The group has been small since its beginning, but we feel that there has been unity and strength in our smallness. Experiences of joy, happiness, sorrow, and sadness have been shared, and each of us is bigger by having joined together in this task of striving to hold the "limitless life out to others.

"So long as we love we serve,
And no man is useless while
He has a friend".—Stevenson

TENNESSEE WESLEYAN BULLDOGS

The football team of Tennessee Wesleyan has run up an enviable record for this year, playing a large amount of their games with Senior Colleges. In spite of this handicap they have done wood work and we are proud of them. It is too bad that some of our star players are leaving us this spring, but with the material left in the junior class, we are sure to have an equally fine team next year. Among those leaving is Captain McDaniels. His place is to be filled this fall by Johnny Campbell. Here's hoping for another great year for the Bulldogs.

Coach "Rube" McCray, Thomas, Abernathy, Carlock, Hall, Morrison, Long, McCay, Sager.

BASKETBALL SQUAD

Tennessee Wesleyan's basketball squad! A fine bunch of players. They, like the football squad have a fine record for the year. Although they failed to win the conference championship, they placed one man on the all-conference team, and that man was Forrest Kendell. All the boys made a good showing. We are handicapped by being a two year school, inasmuch as the boys can play only two years together, where in a four year school they play longer, know their coach better, and work together better. We have no complaint to make on the boys working together here, however, for that is one thing they do and do well. We are losing some of the basketball squad this spring also, but we are sure that under the leadership of Kendell next year they will again turn out a smooth playing, hard fighting bunch of players.

HISTORY OF GAMMA GAMMA

On February 23, 1923 Gamma Gamma united her efforts with Sigma Iota Chi becoming Beta Iota Chapter of this sorority. There were twelve charter members.

Sigma Iota Chi has a dual purpose, self-development of her members and the working out of a project each year for the betterment of Wesleyan.

THE PHI PI DELTA

The Phi Pi Delta fraternity, the oldest Greek letter organization on the campus, has been represented by its members in practically every activity for men. Many of Wesleyan's best athletes, student officers, and leaders in dramatics and music have been Phi Pi Delta members.

Here are some of this year's Phi Pi Delta members who are prominent in the student life on the campus: Frd Puett, President of the Senior Class, Winner of the Bayless Prize Debate, Business Manager of the Nocatula, letterman in football, and a leader in the literary activities on the campus, is President of the Phi Pi Delta fraternity.

Mack Ray, a staunch Phi Pi Delta, President of the Student Body. Harold Gastman, one of the new members is Editor-in-chief of the Nocatula. Next year many of the important officers will be Phi Pi Delta members. Johnnie Campbell is the new football captain, and we believe that he will be the best yet.

Dyannan Elliott is the new Editor-in-chief of the Nocatula. A. B. Cooper is the new President of the Pan-Hellenic Union

Gamma Gamma Club the oldest organization of its kind on Tennessee Wesleyan Campus, was organized October 16, 1927. Although deprived of a room of their own and handicapped in this respect the girls built a stronger and firmer program every year.

The club was first based on scholarship but later became more social in aspect. In 1929-30 the club with other Greek letter clubs of the campus organized a Pan-Hellenic Union, in this same year Gamma Gamma became the sister of the Phi Pi Delta Fraternity.

Sez Us—

Mariette: Wasn't that a keen banquet and initiation we had at the first of the year?

Jayne: I'll say, and remember how proud we all were to wear the Sigma Tau Sigma colors

Mary: What about our new sorority room?

Frances: Best ever—I never will forget the feeds and slumber parties we had up there.

Myrtle: Boy! those hikes!

Evelyn: Poor Justine—how she loves initiation!

Vera: Remember "Tap Week" and how they made us dress.

Alma: We sure had a nice rush party. The show was real good and the waffles tasted the same.

Justine: It's a good thing for me that there is only one initiation.

Margaret: Say! Who ever would have thought this bunch could ever be serious at a business meeting?
Sorority: We can hardly wait until next year to get together again in the same old way for the same old reason—WE'RE PALS.

PI NU LAMBDA

The Pi Nu Lambda Sorority has finished another successful year, with a membership of six at the beginning of the year, and nine added during the last two terms.

Officers are: Ruth Peacock, pres.; Jessie Cook, vice pres.; Margaret Drozd, secretary and treasurer. Other members are: Cecile Cox, Elizabeth Garrett, Eilene Brewer, Gona Dcrsey, Wanda Catton, Ara Knox, Evelyn Edwards, Helen Shaw, Juanita Crowder, Zenia England, and Eve Russell.

RAH! RAH! RAH!

Rah! Rah! Rah! for the Alpha Gammas! They are still eternally and everlastingly at it. Some may ask, at what? We are at everything. And, as a result, we have enjoyed a very prosperous year. Through the efficient work of our President, Miss Jackson, eight members were pledged at the first of the year. Our acts may go on behind the curtain and the rule of secrecy may be observed, but still, you feel our influence and hear our words.

As for the social side of life, we have not neglected that. The Alpha Gammas and their brother fraternity, the HIT's, have held several parties and other social activities together.

And believe it or not, we are really serious at times. We have been having our regular weekly meetings, and some of these have bordered on the line of seriousness. In these meetings we have discussed some individual problems. Very interesting programs of an entertaining nature have been featured.

We wish each and every student on the Campus a pleasant vacation.

ETA IOTA TAU

The Eta Iota Tau fraternity was organized in 1929 by Neal Ensminger, of Athens, Tenn., and Earl Henry of Copperhill, Tenn., with the assistance and direction of Dean W. E. Miller. The fraternity has been steadily growing in size and influence. However, it has not been aloof from the general rise and fall of the tide of interest and accomplishment which always accompanies progress.

The Greek letters Eta Iota Tau stand for the English letters, H. I. T., respectively, hence we call ourselves HITS and glory in the title.

We have as our motto: "Hit! don't fan!" and as we look about us to see what places of honor on our campus are held by HITS we realize that they not only claim the motto, but are living it also.

We stand for scholarship, sportsmanship, manliness and wholesome living because we know we have to possess these qualities before we can live up to our motto: "Hit! don't fan!"
